Live Stock Co-Op. Paying Dividends This Week

The Grande Prairie Co-operative Livestock Marketing Association this week is making a payment of a dividend of ten cents a hundredweight on all hogs shipped during the past year ending April 30, 1937.

In accordance with principles of operation, the association always has aimed to give the maximum of service at minimum cost. At the end of the year's operation a substantial surplus on hogs had been accumulated and from this the Board of Directors of the association decided to return to the shippers ten cents per hundredweight, thus bringing the net cost of shipping hogs to 70 cents per hundredweight.

It is interesting to note that in the past the association has been able to reduce the cost from $1.50 per hundredweight to $1.00, and now to 70 cents. At the same time the service has been materially increased by the installation of sheds and yards at all the major points.

During the past year the Co-op has adopted the system of marketing hogs on the dressed basis. This system has become the basis of the most of eastern Canada and the live stock industry has been greatly benefited, especially where the hogs are sold in bulk.

A Trip To ENGLAND

By J. ARCHER

THE DOLE, UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE AND PENSION SCHEME

The unemployed in Canada in August, 1937, were approximately 332,000. In England it was just under one million. Not much difference in numbers, but when we consider the population of the two countries, the figures become more significant. Canada has a population under 11,000,000; England, 45,000,000.

Unemployment in England is taken care of by relief, in Canada they call it the dole.

In England, if employment is found for anyone receiving the dole and he or she refuses to accept the same, being physically fit for the job, they are immediately struck off the benefit of the dole.

While waiting for a car or bus—I forget which—I saw a number of men and women, mostly men, going into an office and was informed that this was the day of the dole. They received the dole. I strolled into this office and found possibly twenty or more people waiting their turn for payment of the dole. I spoke to one of the officials, as my official, as my observation in England so far had convinced me that there appeared to be enough work for all, but he informed me that some of the people were unfit for any available work, otherwise they would immediately be struck off the privileges of this payment. So that a man and wife and one child received 30 shillings a week, amount to $7.50 a week. I noticed that the girls appeared to be well dressed and that the above receipts it would appear that they were well off.

The old age pension, as in Canada, applies to all men and women over 70 years of age, but this benefit is theirs irrespective which county they live or have lived in. Besides the old age pension there is the Contributory Scheme, under which 10,000,000 people are insured. This is compulsory between the employer and employee. In the present time there are 3,000,000 enjoying pensions and allowances under this scheme. The scheme does not benefit the large number of independent workers such as farmers, shopkeepers, professional men and women and others with small incomes. The government passed this year what is known as Voluntary Contributory Act, 1937 for the benefit of this class of people. It is estimated that 2,000,000 men and women will be eligible to insure under the new scheme. This insurance is entirely voluntary. The sooner those entitled to benefit under this scheme apply the better for them, as the amount they will have to contribute increases after 1937. The application must be made by January 1, 1940. The age limit is reduced to 40. The amount to be contributed is 20 cents per week for men, the difference is paid by the employer. This scheme by paying 30 cents per week will get pension rights that would otherwise cost from 15 shillings per week, or $3.75 in our money. Under this scheme the difference of 13.9 (thirteen shillings and nine pence) is taken under consideration. This scheme allows men and women to receive the pension at 60 years of age of £2.50 per week.

enter into this scheme who has an income of £400 a year—that is $2,000. The applicants must have resided in England for ten years immediately prior to application to join the scheme. Moving to some other part of the Empire is not disqualifying one from the benefits of the scheme—the pension can be drawn anywhere in the British Empire.

The Facts About Banking in Canada

Reproduced from the Fourth Broadcast in a Series by Vernon Knowles for the Chartered Banks of Canada and Delivered Over a Province-Wide Network of Alberta Stations on Tuesday Evening, September 28th, from 8:30 to 8:45; and Wednesday, September 29th, from 12:00 noon to 12:15.

Loans Made to 57,634 Albertans This Year . . . Sixty Per Cent to Individuals . . . How a Bank is Formed . . . Shareholders Face "Double Liability" . . . Banks Regulated by Canadian People Through Parliament . . . Deals With Bank Services . . . 49,000 Shareholders Own Canada's Chartered Banks . . . No Concentration of Power . . . Tells About Alberta's Bank Depositors and Shareholders.

THIS year, between the first day of January and the last day of August, Canada's Chartered Banks have made loans to no fewer than 57,634 Alberta customers. Who got those loans? 20,502 of them went direct to farmers and ranchers. Other individuals obtained 13,050 loans. 1,701 home-owners got Home Improvement Loans—so that Canada's Chartered Banks this year, have extended new loans to 35,253 individuals—farmers, ranchers, home-owners and other private borrowers. Commercial loans numbering 13,926 have been made to other than individuals in the same period; municipalities and school districts also obtained many new loans.

Out of 57,634 new loans made this year in Alberta, more than 60 per cent of them went to individuals. Don't let anyone tell you we've stopped lending in Alberta.

Now, I return to the question, "What is a bank?" As I said in an earlier broadcast: "Above all things a bank is a place where you or your children can deposit money with absolute assurance that any time you demand it you can get it back in full, intact and with interest."

A bank is formed by a group of responsible people who believe that they can offer a service which a community needs and is willing to pay for, at a rate which will yield a reasonable profit. These are the motives of any business.

Those desiring to form the bank name five Provisional Directors, who then must petition the Dominion Parliament for an Act of Incorporation. The Bank Act demands that the Provisional Directors must themselves be subscribers to shares in the bank. The Bank Act is a Dominion law—without such law the business of accepting the people's deposits and making loans would be wholly without safeguard.

After Parliament has acted, the Provisional Directors are authorized to invite public subscriptions for the shares. Before any person buys any share the statute requires that there be placed before him, in large type, Section 125 of the Bank Act, which informs him that if the bank becomes insolvent, the shareholder will be liable to pay once more an amount equal to the par value of his shares. This is what is known as "double liability." Since the Bank of Canada was opened the double liability has been slightly modified and, as this central bank under Government control, assumes more and more the right of note issue, the double liability of chartered bank shareholders will be further adjusted.

You will see that the law puts a serious responsibility upon the shareholder and deliberately forces it upon his attention, in order that those who are going to handle other people's money must realize their responsibility to the full. The people are thus safeguarded against fly-by-night promoters.

When Half a Million Dollars worth of stock in the new bank has been subscribed and half of that amount paid up, this $250,000 must be placed in the hands of the Minister of Finance. When the Minister is satisfied that the public interest is safeguarded, he returns the $250,000 to the bank and issues a certificate permitting the bank to open for business. The Bank Act then becomes its charter. Any idea that this bank has to put money into Government bonds to obtain currency is wholly without foundation.

Canada's Chartered Banks do not enjoy a monopoly of the right to print money. They never did enjoy any such monopoly. You often hear it said that Canada's Chartered Banks alone can "Make money" and that we can print our own notes and circulate them in unlimited amounts—such statements are absolutely false. The Bank of Canada has the right to issue notes—not in unlimited amounts—but only up to the amount of the capital actually paid up. There were two exceptions to this rule—the first was that we were permitted to make a fifteen per cent increase in note issue, for a limited period only, for crop moving purposes. The second exception was that over our paid-up capital we could issue dollar for dollar against gold or Dominion notes, deposited in the central gold reserves. These exceptions are no longer in force.

With the Bank of Canada established and controlled by the Dominion Government we can now issue our own notes only up to ninety per cent of the amount of our paid-up capital. Every year there is to be a further reduction. The Bank of Canada issues notes and as the note issue right of the Chartered Banks is progressively cut down, the Bank of Canada's note issue will take its place. In other words, the right to issue our own notes is being steadily taken from us and vested in the Bank of Canada, which, I would remind you, is the Government's central bank, not a chartered bank.

I pointed out, in an earlier broadcast, that no business is subject to such complete control and such Parliamentary scrutiny as are the Chartered Banks. Can you name another business in Canada in which every company's charter automatically expires at one time and can only be renewed after Parliamentary investigation?

Although the Bank Act can be amended at any time by Parliament every five years bank charters expire and the Act is thrown open for what is known as the "decennial revision"—which is a most sweeping and searching inquiry, conducted by the Provisional Directors and a Committee of the House of Commons. Mr. Norman Jacques, M.P., for Wetsakwini; Mr. J. C. Landervoy, M.P., for Calgary; Mr. East, and Mr. Victor Quinlan, M.P., for Acadia, are the Alberta Members of the Banking and Commerce Committee. It is a large Committee with every Province and every political party represented, so you see that the people do not lack in any sense, for the most penetrating examination of the business of banking. Who regulates the banks? None other than the Canadian people, through their elected representatives.

Into the Bank Act, by reason of that part of the Committee from year to year, have been built all of the safeguards arising from the lessons of the past.

Now I would like to deal with the services that a bank performs. There are many and varied. The bank accepts and safeguards your deposits and extends the credit based upon them to responsible people.

Alberta folk will easily follow the illustration of bank credit I'm now going to give you. This is harvest time and in the fortunate parts of the Province the farmer is starting to haul his grain to the elevator. When he delivers his wagon-load there, he gets a grain ticket.

He takes the ticket into the bank and the bank gives him cash for it. What does the bank do with the grain ticket then?

At the end of the day the bank lists separately all of the grain tickets issued by each elevator company. It sends them to the Calgary or Winnipeg, to be collected from the Head Office of the Elevator Company which issued the tickets.

How does the Elevator Company redeem the tickets? During the clearing of a busy crop, the elevator company is not likely to have sufficient funds of its own to purchase all of the grain handled from day to day.

So the bank advances the sum required against the security of the grain, until the buyer in Liverpool pays for it. The bank collects from the elevator company the proceeds of the grain company which pays off the money the bank advanced.

What happens is this: The farmer gets his cash on delivery of the grain to the elevator without any waiting. And the bank provides credit from that moment on, until the grain is paid for, probably months later.

Let me point out that the "tickets" were anchored to something—in this case they were anchored to the finest form of real wealth—newly produced from the soil. You know no ship can be anchored safely unless the anchor is firmly embedded in something.

We extend bank credit to people who can, with some certainty, be expected to repay. We can only lend to responsible people because we ourselves are responsible to the depositors.

The banks provide the machinery for carrying out dozens of widely-varied, day-to-day transactions; simplifying business and facilitating the exchange of goods and services. The bank provides a place for you to leave in safe custody valuable documents or other papers; your title deeds; your life and fire insurance policies; valuables such as jewelry; and stocks and bonds. The bank collects your commercial bills, either at home or abroad. It transfers money from one part of the country to another, as you may require; and it takes care of shipment and safeguarding of securities. These are only examples of the services a Chartered Bank performs.

No doubt many of our listeners have been told that banks simply swap cheques. There seems to be an idea that there is never any settlement between banks. Here is another home illustration: Tom Smith, in Calgary, runs a clothing store and Jim McGregor goes in to buy a suit of clothes. He gives Tom Smith his cheque for, say $27.50. The cheque is drawn on Jim's bank, let's call it Bank A. On the other hand Tom deposits Jim's cheque in Bank B and immediately gets credit for the face amount.

But then what happens? Does Bank B simply send the cheque to Bank A, and does Bank A simply cancel the cheque and destroy it, after deducting the $27.50 from Jim's account?

No—what does happen is this—Before Jim McGregor's cheque gets back to Jim's bank it has to go through the Clearing House. The Clearing House is part of a national system, under which settlements are effected through the Bank of Canada. Daily each bank gathers together and totals the cheques deposited with it which are drawn upon each of the other banks. Every morning these are taken to the Clearing House. Where it is found that one bank has a balance due to it from any other bank, the difference is settled daily, through the Bank of Canada, by the payment of cash—not chartered bank bills—cash.

This ultimate settlement through the Clearing House system is altogether ignored, or is too little understood, by many of those who criticize the Banks.

It is not difficult to understand when reduced to its simplest terms. We point out to you that, if Jim McGregor's cheque was the only cheque issued that day, Jim's Bank, Bank A, would have had to pay to Tom's bank, Bank B, the sum of $27.50 in cash—bills of the Bank of Canada.

Every balance between banks is ultimately settled in cash.

Now who owns the shares? There are more than 49,000 shareholders in Canada's Chartered Banks, more than 500 of them in Alberta. Most of the shareholdings are small—the average is less than 30 shares. Many of the shareholders are women, who, after a lifetime of toil have sold their farms, or other holdings, and invested their money in bank shares as a source of income. There are examples to show the kind of people who own Canada's Banks. These are the people who are accused of being a part of the fabric of industrialism. They are mostly Canadians.

your fellow-citizens, and most of the business that is done by their banks is Canadian business. Some of you may have been given a word-picture of a small group of men, owning all the banks, sitting around a table and conspiring daily to use all of everybody else's money for their own profit. Let us examine it—There is no concentration of power in the hands of any small group. The shareholders annually elect, of their own free choice, 167 Directors of known and proven business ability. Their work is to safeguard the interests of the shareholders, note-holders and depositors, in co-operation with the salaried executives every one of whom started out as a junior in some small branch. These Directors own less than four per cent of the shares issued.

Banks each month have to report to the Government sworn particulars of the loans made to Bank Directors and to firms in which they are partners and loans for which they are guarantors. The most recent return shows that these advances are only a 108th part of the total bank loans.

No Director of a bank may vote, nor may he even be present at a meeting of the Board, when loans to himself, or any business concern in which he is a partner or director, are under consideration.

About 40% of Canada's people have savings deposits. Applying the same percentage to the population of Alberta it would appear that roughly 240,000 Albertans are savings depositors. A bank deposit is a loan to the bank. It is a debt owing by the bank. If there is a tyranny in lending are the banks tyrannized by the depositors? When a friend borrows from another is the lender a tyrant? We leave the answer to our listeners.

Parliament in its wisdom, acting upon recommendations of the Banking and Commerce Committee from time to time, has legislated to prevent the banks from doing certain things.

A bank may not lend money on mortgages, loans must be of short term and quickly realizable. A bank is forbidden to engage in trade. It cannot buy, or lend, against its own shares or those of any other bank.

There are provisions that restrict a bank in lending to any Director. It cannot let its name appear on certain prospectuses. It cannot let its staff represent insurance companies and there are heavy penalties laid down for violation of these and other provisions of the Bank Act.

Canada's Chartered Banks are not your masters; they are not tyrannical; they are your servants—the Canadian People, through their Parliament, have so legislated as to keep them that way.

Just before my time is up, I would like to say that I have before me a poster which an organization in Edmonton is sending out over the Province. It says, "Tax the Banks—it Costs them Nothing."

The poster to which I have referred presumes to quote from the Encyclopedia Britannica, but I assure you that the extracts are divorced from their context and are so used as to convey a meaning exactly opposite from the meaning intended by the author, Mr. R. G. Hawtry, an officer of the British Treasury.

You all know that when you pay taxes it costs you something. A bank is no different, in that respect, from any of you. Would your own municipality say that when the bank pays its taxes, the municipality gets nothing? However, we do not plan to waste time on absurdities, but let me say just this: That we showed you last week, that 180 bank branches in Alberta were operated at a loss in 1935, and that new and added taxes had since been imposed.

We showed you the alternative—either pass the added charges on to our customers, or close branches to the point where ends can be made to meet. If it cost us nothing to pay taxes, we would have no such alternative to worry about.

CHICAGO'S GREAT FIRE RE-ENACTED AT HOLLYWOOD

This unusual production scene from a Hollywood studio presents a behind-the-scenes shot on the set for "In Old Chicago," a movie which has for one of its climaxes a reproduction of the Chicago fire. An artificial lake containing 2,000,000 gallons of water was constructed around the set as a measure of precaution in case the movie holocaust got out of control. Inflammable mixtures were fed from cleverly placed jets under high pressure to simulate the effect of erupting flames. Despite all safety precautions, the fire got out of control at one shooting and nearly wiped out the entire studio.

WOMAN PLAYS ON JOE E. BROWN'S FILM GO TEAM

Audience that saw "Joe E. Brown's Film Go Team" was offered a thrilling game of football.

The film, which was shown at the Capital Theatre last Monday for a three-day showing in a double feature program, was treated to a thrilling exhibition.

Not that they were in a direct, action by the most careful scrutiny, that one of the star players is a woman who wears the same outfit as her male teammates, and is just as good a mauler-wielder as any of them.

Yess, North of Hollywood, crags, home-made and animal trainer, is the one female player of the game. Her presence, came about because the script called for Joe to ride a circus lion, and at the start of the game, when he was to ride a lion and a crowd of the game between expert teams.

The only such horse available was a grey, a handsome black mare belonging to Yess, North, and she said, "I'll ride the grey for you, and I'll be the only woman to ride a lion in the game."

Director Bill McCann made the lion and horse look like ferocious beasts, and she really good.

FOREIGN FILMS BRING SUCCESS

Heather Abner's stock company played leading roles in the London and New York theatres, and in German and English pictures before she came to the Prairie in 1932 to make her first film.

After her Hollywood beginning she remained and her most recent appearance was in the "Chlorine" picture, which she played in the Capital Theatre last Monday.

Her father, a distinguished professor of chemistry at Oxford University, was killed during the war. He was a chemist and had been in the service.

Heather completed her education in England, and then came to the Prairie to make her first film.

She returned to London after the war, and then came to the Prairie to make her first film.
